Efforts to Secure the Place at the Tall of the Pacing Machine Results in the Meet's Only Unpleasantness.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 15 .- The League of American Wheelmen national meet came to a close this afternoon in an ugly wrangle was a scrap from beginning to end. There was no end of jockeying, and at one time Cooper and Bald had their hands off their other, imperiling the lives of a dozen or Erie. nore contestants. Cooper and Callahan finished in the first division, but were disqualified, the race going to W. E. Becker Minneapolis, first; E. S. Aker of Philadel-but Cooper, Gardiner, Bald, Coburn and others made a representative string. A triplet, manued by Schrein and the two Johnsons, was in to pace. When the men broke for the big machine, Callahan waited and hooked on, although the machine got away so slowly that half the field bunched far front of it before there, was any semblance of the usual formation in a paced event. Gardiner went to the front with Bald, Cooper and Zack Coburn and dropped back, catching the machine safely. This was the first signal for one after another of the contestants to go up ahead, some catching successfully and some failing to make good their game. Whilst this was going on Cooper and Bald came together, Cooper elbowing his great antagonist, while the Buffalonian adopted similar tactics and reached out viciously for his successful rival. Trouble triplet, manned by Schrein and the two Johnsons, was in to pace. When the men broke for the big machine, Callahan waited Jooper and Bald came to bowing his great antagonist, while the bowing for his successful rival. Trouble out viciously for his successful rival. Trouble kept up throughout the balance of the ride and the grand stand manifested its displeasure by hissing every time the bunch came around. The consequence of the final sprint was that Cooper won out, with Becker a was that Cooper won out with Becker a was that Cooper won out, with Becker a was that and Callahan had been disqualified and the championship went to Becker, Aker taking second and Nat Butler third. Gardiner and Bald came in as named on Butler's rear. The time for the five miles was 12:13 2-5.

SANGER'S POPULARITY SHOWN. Up to the time of this unpleasant affair feature of the day and of the meet so far was the victory of Sanger in the two-mile handicap for professionals. If any one doubted "Wooden Shoes" popularity he should have heard the crowd cheer him when he scored his first and only victory of the meeting and seen his enthusiastic riends shoulder him and carry him bodily from the track. The Milwaukecan had played in hard lines, but he retrieved himself, riding the event in his old time form and winning in a driving sprint that carried him around the bunch as though he was trying to run circles about them. Sanger had scratch, with Kennedy, Louic Callahan and Eaton just ahead of him, and these four succeeded in getting together early in the game. Callahan paced for the first half mile, and then Sanger came up. The result was that he caught the big bunch ahead. The field at some slowed down and the men loafed along for nearly a mile. with Van Herrick out in front, then E. C. Johnson and then Callahan. Sanger got down to his work just as the bell tapped, swinging along on his high gear with an increasing stride that brought him at eyens with the head of the bunch before the final jump started. The big fellow had been beautifully pocketed on the back stretch, and his admirers in the grandstand went wild with enthusiasm as his maneuver was successfully worked. Callahan was still at the head of the bunch, with Kennedy lapping his wheel from the outside, and as Sanger went by, Kennedy left the diminu-tive Buffalonian and went after him. The big fellow's jump was too strong, however, and Sanger came in the winner by all of a length. Kennedy barely saved second, for Callahan was working away with his famous finishing sprint, speeding across the tape inches only to the bad.

WILLIE COBURN'S WIN. In the final of the mile open, Allen was given the pole, while at his right were Tom Butler, Bald, McFarland, Willie Coburn, Loughead, Rigby, Sanger, Aker, Gardiner, Kennedy and Schrein. In the first lap Kennedy went up with Tom Butler, Bald and Allen trailing him. The second time around Bald was at the front, with Bighy Kennedy and McFarland for with Rigby, Kennedy and McFarland for company. In the third lap, Kennedy got to company. In the third lap, Kennedy got to the front again, with McFarland and Willie Coburn up. Sanger was well in the lead, with Gardiner safely on for "sleight ride," and foxy little Tom Butler just as safe on Gardiner's rear, when the big fellow prepared for his "quad" act. The crowd was looking for something of this sort, and as Sanger commenced cutting down Kennedy's lead, a shout went up from 5.000 throats. At the middle of the last turn, the Milwaukee boy was a half dozen lengths back of first place, with Gardiner still clinging to him, but Butler had been lost in the drive and was out of it. Coburn played a good game and stayed at Kennedy's rear until he saw Bald and Allen at his side. He had saw Bald and Allen at his side. He the advantage of the pole, and when jumped, he started a sprint that landed him a winner by a length. Allen was coming like mad, fighting at Baid's left, and in his t three or four jumps, it seemed as it across the tape. It is a question if he really heat Bald, but after a long wrangle, the judges so decided, and the Syracuse favorite got the first bit of victory that has come to him in many weeks. Gardiner Quit Sanger's rear half way down the stretch and ran into fourth place, just shead of

At the tape Gardiner shot to the front and lapped Baid, showing Cooper the way in by an open length. The amateur events were well contested. In-graham won the mile open with ease, but was beaten out in a hot finish in the mile handicap by Howard of St. Louis. The two-mile state championship went to W. H. Seaton, Jr., while McCarthy of St. Louis piloted in the field of 2:30 class men. A rain came up just after the five mile cham-

This race was the last on the card, the last of the meet. It was called in the face of an approaching storm, but before the race had well begun it became stormicr even than the warring elements overheard. Nearly all of the big men of the game started, for the trial heats were omitted, and the entry was left to the election of the riders. Tom Butler and Zeigler staid out, but Cooper, Gardiner, Bald, Coburn and others made a representative string.

EARLY CONTESTS ARE ALL WORKED OFF

Austin, Hopkins and Haskell New Left in the Competition for the Right to Play Cullingham for the Title.

Yesterday almost settled the tennis championship of Nebraska. If it had not rained as soon as it did only two of the competitors would have dreamed of the glory last night. muff of Reitz's fly in center, followed by Brodle's single, gave today's game to Balcide the man who is to meet Cullingham.

The tournament in singles began yesterday morning with eight entries, C. H. Young, Roy Austin, R. H. Spencer, "Buzz" Colpetzer, G. E. Haverstick, Frank Haskell, Millard Hopkins and Earl Farnsworth of Grand Island. The entire eight are crackajacks in the sport, and it was anticipated that the play would be warm. This expectation was partly met, but the scores were not as close as they might have been.

In the morning three of the matches in the first round were played and proved to be worth seeing. One of the most interesting was that between the Grand Island representative, Earl Farnsworth, who is but 14 years of age, and Hopkins. Farnsworth's play was marked by excellent lobbing. He gave Hopkins quite a scare, for at one time the first set was 4-1 in his favor. Hopkins, however, pulled out winner by the score of Hits: Cincinnati, 19, St. Louis, 2. Earned rors: Cincinnati, 2; St. Louis, 2. Two-base hit: Miller, Feltz, Hoy, Smith, McFarland. Three-base nit: Maughn. Stolen bases: McPhee (2). PITTSBURG, Aug. 15.—Tebeau tried his Texas league pitcher today. The newcomer did well until the lifth inning, after which the home team found him and which the home team found him and batted out the winning runs. Killen kept the seattered and not a Spider reached the least of the matches developed some nice play.

afternoon matches, and especially in that between Young and Austin. It was thought that the latter would be decidedly warm. Young was looked upon as a possible winner from the fact that Austin has had little practice this year. Austin demonstrated by his play yesterday, however, that he is of that class which predominates in every sport. He appears to have been born for tennis, regardless of condition or practice.

Yet the match was an interesting one Con Young has practiced most assiduously and is a brilliant player and a good one. He makes his opponent work. He won the first set by a score of 6-2. Some of the spectators believed that Austin let him have it. It is true that Austin has fallen into the habit, which might be an unfortunate one if he intends to continue playing, of allowing his opponent to get the first set and then winning the deciding two or three Austin was unsteady at first, sending his balls out of court and into the net but settled down into his old form after the first set. He played with vim, and his eye was as good as ever. Young was unfortunate, too, in sending the balls, and, as the match progressed, seemed to become Austin finally won, the score being 2-6, The other completed match of the after noon was between Haskell and Haverstick. The latter has not played this year to any extent and was evidently out of condition. For all that he succeeded in putting up a very nice game. The match was a pretty one and was marked by considerable volley-ing on both sides. Haskell showed that his play was similar to that of last year. It is an easy style, in which lobbing has a considerable part. It was well met by Haverstick. It is to be hoped that the latter player will play harder next year, as he has given indications of good "stuff."

Haskell won the match by a score of Haskell was considerably fagged out by the heat after his match with Haverstick and was not in good condition to meet Hop-kins. Only one set and a part of another were played before the rain set in. The set resulted in a score of 6-2 in favor of Hop-kins. On the second the score was 2-love in his favor, when it rained. Hopkins is play-ing a very steady game and has improved by on the same day. This program is condi-tioned by the hope that the courts will be sufficiently dry. The winner of the finals will then contest for the championship with Cullingham. This match may also be played on Monday, but there is a move on foot to have it postponed until the first day of the interstate tournament on Tuesday afternoon.

BIG ENTRY FOR THE INTERSTATE.

States in Omaha This Week, Entries for the Omaha interstate tournament, which will follow the state singles competition, beginning on Tuesday morning next, close at noon tomorrow. Already the list of competitors is sufficient to warrant hibition of tennis far superior to anything that has ever yet been seen in Omaha. Wynne Carver and L. H. Waidner of Chicago are sufficient in themselves to make a first-class meet. But George K. Belden of Minneapolis, if he is able to get here, is not unlikely to prove a match for either of the Chicago men in singles, and if he enters in doubles with Jayne, as he is likely to do, may come very near winning that event also. Nicholson and Colledge of Le-mers make another strong team, representing lows, and Stoker of Topeka and Bowersock of Lawrence will show what Kanass can produce.

Nebraska, as the bome state, will be represented by the best. Austin and Cullingham are in good form, and Young and Haskell, according to their recent showings on the courts, may make things interesting as a second Omaha team, with Haverstick and Colpetzer a close third, and four or five other teams to back them up, in additional and the second of the secon Colpetzer a close third, and four or five other teams to back them up. In addition. Hastings will send down two of her best teams and several other enthusiasts as onlookers. Two or three Lincoln men will also be down, and little Earl Farnsworth, the boy wonder, of Grand Island, will serve, $106,313,823.

Opening of the Tennis Tournament for the ord is a brilliant one. He achieved his great ord is a printant one, he achieved his given est successes in 1890 and the two or three years following. At that time he ranked right up among the very foremost players in the country. Carver and Ryerson won the western doubles championship in 1890 and followed this up by a successful tour in the east. In the finals at Newcastle, N. H. they defeated Hovey and Wright in three straight sets. At Bar Harbor, Me., Carver was beaten in the final round by Valentine Hall after having overcome Ed Hall in an earlier round. The Halls were then at their prime. At Narragansett Pier there were fifty entries in singles, but Carver was only beaten in the final round by Ollie Campbell. who won the national championship only one week later at Newport. Carver, moreover, came very near winning from Campbell, as the score of 8-6, 1-6, 6-3, 6-8, 6-3 shows. In the same year Carver was one of the eight players invited to compete in the invitation tournament at Wahant. This invitation was one much coveted, as it was supposed to include the eight leading men The score; of the year. Since then Carver has not striven for premier honors. Yet his record is not yet complete. In 1892 he won the western championship, but did not go east. In 1893, with Ryerson again, he won the indoor championship held in Chicago and his vic-tory with Waidner at Minnetonka last month shows that his game has kept pace with present leaders.

L. H. Waidner, who will be Carver's partner, is known in Omaha. His activity on the courts was one of the features of last year's tournament. He follows his service so fast that he seems to be in his place by the net before the ball has struck the ground; and, though not a tall man, he will smash a high lob by a cat-like spring into the air, bringing the ball down with tremendous force. His game is a most interesting one from the spectator's stand-

Richard Nicholson will be remembered by those who saw him play in Omaha two years ago for his brilliant net volleying. He is almost an impossible man to pass at the net. The Kansas pair, Stoker and Bowersock, are expected to run up a strong fight. Belden and Jayne have not yet sent their entries, but are expected to do so by tomor-row morning. Belden came out ahead of Waidner in the Chicago Tennis club's tournament and is, therefore, a player of no mean ability. He is undoubtedly the strongest man between Chicago and the coast.

large numbers during the week. SCORES OF THE WESTERN LEAGUE.
